

Thinks Arkansas Grateful to Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said here Wednesday that he was sure that Arkansas would be "eternally grateful for the all-out effort" Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller "has made to bring the fruits of competitive government to Arkansas."

Hammerschmidt made the statement after Rockefeller conceded defeat to Democrat Dale Bumpers in Tuesday's general election.

"As a result of his (Rockefeller's) activities, many old alliances are now nonexistent and spokesmen from the people have come to the fore," Hammerschmidt said.

On another topic, Hammerschmidt said he thought Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's campaign trip to Arkansas could have hurt the Republicans who were seeking office in the state.

Agnew visited Fort Smith last month on behalf of Rockefeller and other members of the GOP that were seeking office.

Hammerschmidt said that the Vice President's address in which he was critical of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., may have figured into Rockefeller's defeat.

He said it would be difficult to evaluate such a trip, but that the people of Arkansas did not like to hear an "outsider" criticize their elected representatives.

"Dealing in personalities was probably detrimental to the governor's effort and perhaps mine," Hammerschmidt said.

House Demos May Offer Own Economy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reinforced House Democrats may present their own economic program if the Nixon administration does not change its policies, according to Rep. Carl Albert, the chamber's prospective new speaker.

Albert took issue in an interview with two interpretations of Tuesday's election—that, the smaller-than-average Democratic House gains for off-year elections were not significant and that voter concern with inflation and unemployment did not play a major role.

"We are going into the new Congress with the biggest Democratic majority since the Johnson landslide of 1964," Albert said.

Democrats picked up at least nine House seats, for a total of 254. This contrasts with 243 at the beginning of the last Congress and 248 at the start of the one four years ago.

It is, however, well short of the 295 seats Democrats won in 1964 when Lyndon B. Johnson overwhelmed Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential election.

"I would hope this would encourage the administration to take the state of the economy more seriously," Albert said.

"They haven't done so up to now."

Albert said the Democrats in the House already have taken some legislative steps. Over administration opposition, they have passed standby credit, wage and price controls which have not been used.

"We could do more," Albert said. "I would hope that we could work together with the administration, but if not we will have to go ahead on our own."

Albert said his party will benefit not only its gains in the House but by a heightened sense of unity resulting from the deep involvement by Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in the congressional campaign.

"A lot of people are resentful because it was a sort of a smear campaign," Albert said. "It was absurd to try to put Democrats in the position of tolerating stonewalling of the President. We are just as much opposed to that as anyone."

Albert said while the election returns need more analysis, it appears the economic issue was important in areas, including notably California, where there has been a slump in business and employment.

"That was the No. 1 issue, although they denied it," he said. "I don't think there is any other way to consider this election than as a very splendid Democratic victory."

Since Democrats are assured of control of the House, they will name the speaker when the new Congress convenes in January.

stepping up from the House—Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut, William V. Roth of Delaware, J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio and William E. Brock III of Tennessee.

Baker said only two senators who suited him for party leader in the secret balloting were defeated—George Murphy of California and Ralph T. Smith of Illinois.

Like his father-in-law Dirksen, Baker is more conservative than Scott, but contends issues are less a factor in the leadership than rapport with party colleagues.

Scott, who won a third Senate term Tuesday, recently was described by one senator as a shoo-in for re-election as party leader when the 92nd Congress convenes in January.

But it is no secret that a number of his GOP colleagues, especially the conservatives, have not been happy with Scott's leadership.

In addition to himself, Baker listed as possible challengers for the leadership post Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the assistant leader; Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, and Robert J. Dole of Kansas, a vigorous defender of the Nixon administration.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., seems certain to win another term as majority leader. No challenge is in sight.

not mentioned—only law and order." Dagens Nyheter said the President had suffered both a moral and a political defeat and the Democrats had improved their chances for 1972.

Denmark's conservative Berlingske Tidende commented: "Mr. Nixon wanted to mobilize the silent majority by stressing the nationwide problems of law and order. He did not succeed. The majority kept quiet by staying at home."

L'Unita, published by the Italian Communist party, headlined its story "Grave Defeat for Nixon."

One winner, according to the conservative London Daily Mail, was American democracy.

"Despite all the talk of crazy swings and vicious tactics," it said, "the American voter has kept his feet on the ground and his eyes on the candidates themselves."

"When in doubt, go for the better man. On the whole, American voters have favored men of talent and energy, whatever their political beliefs."

Britain's liberal Guardian took a similar view: "America, by and large, has opted for the most energetic candidates and the men in the ideological middle. Liberal fears of a rampaging right-wing epidemic are groundless, just as generalizations about American moral sickness can be vastly overstated."

The conservative Daily Telegraph took a swipe at Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, asserting that the Democrats "appear almost totally lacking at the moment in leadership of the kind which a great party deserves."

"With so much at stake in America itself, it is not enough to look and sound like a 'nice guy,' which, for those who saw him on British television, must have been about all that Sen. Muskie appeared to be."

U.S. to Pull Division From Korea Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States Army Division that now guards about 18 miles of the Korean demilitarized zone, probably will be pulled back and put in reserve when American forces are reduced in South Korea, Pentagon sources say.

The reduction of U.S. forces in the Republic of Korea will begin around mid 1971, when some 20,000 men are to be cut from the 62,000-man garrison.

Details of the withdrawal are still being talked over with the Seoul government, but it's expected one division of the two now in Korea will be pulled out slowly. The remaining infantry division will take up a reserve position, and the South Korean Army will move into the 18-mile stretch, sources indicated.

ates of law and order.

There appeared to be some incongruity, for example, in the dedication of hardhats and their companions to the law-order issue when their paychecks were being eroded by inflation and their jobs threatened by layoffs.

The elections tended to reflect a growing awareness of this, judged by Democratic gains in some industrial states. But the congressional situation appeared less changed, a bit to the conservative side.

Efforts to correct the imbalance that produces inflation and layoffs have been under way since the Nixon administration took office, but there seems little doubt now that the effort will be maximized.

Perhaps, some economists suggest, more direct efforts must be made by the administration to educate the public regarding the limits of acceptable wage and price increases, a policy now practiced in Canada.

They maintain that modern economies may not be as susceptible to containment by traditional methods of fiscal and monetary policy, and that an added measure of persuasion or even threat must be introduced.

For this reason, Modern governments throughout the industrial world are committed to so-called full employment policies, or efforts to goad their economies to maximum output.

This means a continued flirtation with inflation, because history demonstrates that such policies eventually tend to produce the prospect of rising wages and prices.

If a full employment policy is to be maintained, it is argued, workers and employers must be made aware of the dangers to all in any inordinate wage or price demands.

Hijacker Says His Gun Was Not Loaded

ROME (AP) — Raphael Minichiello, former U.S. Marine corporal, told an Italian court today that he took over a TWA jetliner in California for the world's longest air hijacking with an unloaded gun.

He said he told the pilot the weapon was unloaded while flying across the United States a year ago on the 6,900-mile flight to Italy.

He said he loaded the rifle—and "accidentally" fired a shot—in New York when police came near the refueling airliner.

Minichiello said he hijacked the plane to his native Italy because the Army charged him with robbery and he feared he wouldn't get a fair trial in the United States.

The trial was continued until Friday for further testimony by Minichiello.

Peace Envoy Lashed for Nixon Insult

By STEPHENS BROENING PARIS (AP) — The North Vietnamese ambassador insulted President Nixon at today's session of the peace talks and got a severe dressing down for it, a U.S. spokesman reported.

Ledogar declined to repeat what he said were insults but related the reprimand delivered by U.S. Ambassador David K.E.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO BOY

Dear Helen:

It's illegal to smoke grass at any age, right?

So how come they bust us "minors" for it, but leave the adults alone? Two of my friends got expelled from school because they were caught smoking one cigarette (between them).

They'll go to court next week. One kid had never tried pot before, and the other got the stuff from a friend who stole it from home. His folks pass it around every time they have a party, and you'd be surprised who comes to their parties—people pretty high in the police department and county court.

You'd better believe these people don't get raided!

In magazine and TV interviews, well known performers talk about getting stoned—even smoking right out on the street, and the cops never tap them. But if a student—even if he's over 18—tried it, he'd be slapped with a heavy fine or even jail.

As I see it, there's a tough law for kids and "street people" that the police don't like, and a "look the other way" rule for the upright (or rich) citizens who do (or) probably more illegal drugs than teens. Also, I doubt if the kid who got the joint from home would ever get busted!

How about printing my letter, Helen, and asking answers from people who make or enforce (more or less) the law? —

Ray H. Thornton Jr., Democrat, 448,170; John Norman Warnock, American party, 62,830.

SECY. OF STATE — Kelly Bryant, Democrat, 345,758; Jim Sheets, Republican, 207,409.

3RD DIST. REP. — With 913 of 948 precincts reported, John Paul Hammerschmidt, Republican, 100,257; Donald Poe, Democrat, 51,884.

STUDENT

Dear Student:

Letter printed; answers awaited. (We may have a long wait!) —H.

Dear Helen:

This fall four of us girls went on a week's camping trip at a State Park. We had our parents' permission. In fact they even visited us there. We're ordinary college students, who like boys but don't go overboard about it.

On the last two nights of the campout, some fellas stopped at our campfire and we sat around playing guitars, singing, and talking. All we had to drink was coffee. We were neither loud nor lewd.

Well, it seems that some older campers were just waiting for an excuse to complain. They reported that we created a nuisance, and accused one girl of coming out of the tent in panties and bra. You know, the old "naked hippie" thing. They also said we used foul language, which we didn't.

It was their word against ours and, with all the publicity about hippies and parks, guess who won? We are now restricted from the park, and even our parents are doubtful about us.

The Superintendent doesn't want to take a chance of giving the park a bad name, so—our reputations went up in smoke. Incidentally, the only smoking we did was with tobacco! But we got accused of THAT too!

How can we get this restriction lifted and clear ourselves of what we didn't do? —NOT GUILTY

Dear N.G.:

First, prove to your parents that the accusations were highly exaggerated. That shouldn't be hard, if you've been clean up to now. Next, have them arrange a hearing with the park superintendent. If he got no other complaints, or noticed nothing amiss with your camp during your stay, he may review the case and reverse the decision.

Adult pressure carries a lot of weight. —H.

Dear Helen:

What's a good put-down for a guy who thinks he's GGTW? He thinks all the gals should fall down and worship him, and inasmuch as we're only "sexual playthings" anyway, he's doing us a favor by inviting us to his apartment. —WANTING A SHARP ANSWER

Dear WASA:

The best put-down for these "much libido about nothing" fellas is "No thanks, baby!" And a fast switch to another guy. —H.

Use of TV in Education Is Effective

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sesame Street" has shown that television can be used effectively to teach 3 to 5-year old children simple facts and skills, says Educational Testing Service.

ETS said Wednesday that results of its testing 943 children showed a gain in learning by all who watched the show, but the highest gains were made by those who watched most often.

The study also found that disadvantaged children who watched frequently made more gains than advantaged children who watched less regularly.

The authors, Dr. Samuel Ball and Mrs. Gerry Bogatz, said this finding meant the educational gap between advantaged and disadvantaged children could be reduced "even by the time they enter first grade."

The study also found that 3-year-olds who were regular viewers had learned more by the end of the series than older children who watched less frequently.

"Sesame Street," produced by the Children's Television Workshop and funded by public and private agencies, is an hour-long program for preschool children on public television stations.

The ETS survey was conducted in Boston, Philadelphia, Phoenix, Ariz., Durham, N.C. and a rural area of California. Children were tested before the program went on the air and after it had been on for 26 weeks.

Bobcats Get Ready for Final Game

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Friday night the Hope Bobcats travel to Nashville for the last game of the season and the Bobcats will be shooting for one thing.

Hope will be trying to win their last game of the season and finish 7-3 for the year. A victory would give Hope a two year record of 18-5, with one 4AA championship in 1969.

This will be a rivalry battle with Nashville trying to revenge last years 42-0 shellacking at the hands of the Bobcats.

Led by 155 pound quarterback Bobby Keaster the Scrappers have a backfield full of good experienced runners. Although the Scrappers ace runner, Alan Ray, is out with an injury and sickness, replacement Randy Briggs should be capable of carrying on.

Larry Ray, a 175 pounder, and Roger Echols, a 140 pounder fill out the remainder of the backfield. Both are capable runners and excellent blockers on sweeps. Split end Jimmy Rice give the Scrappers a good passing attack when necessary long yardage is needed. Both have good hands and speed.

Nashville relies on the line blocking to keep their running game alive on the outside, with the tackles and ends moving in close to block inside.

Snapping the ball is center Floyd Clark, with help from guards Ricky Ritchie, and Ricky McCullough, and tackles Joey Jamison and Billy Bollinger. The line averages around 172 pounds per man.

While the offense runs the "Y" formation mostly, the defensive unit changes from a split 6 to a wide tackle 6.

Guards Scott Reaves and Frank Selders lead the inside attack with plenty of help from tackles Ken Anderson and Bobby Brown. Also on the line are ends Stanley Castlebury and Ricky Ritchie, both capable of turning in the outside running plays.

Linebackers Bobby Floyd and Roger Echols are solid at their positions and the secondary members, Rice, Walston, and Ray, are all three two-way starters.

Nashville boasts some good kickers and they return kickoffs and punts real good, going up the middle or around the sides.

Whatever the outcome will be though, you can almost be assured that the game will be filled with hard hitting, many bumps and bruises, and a will to win from both teams.

Independent Basketball Play Results

In the Hempstead Independent Basketball Association play Wednesday Monte's team edged Blevins 68 to 66 with Odum scoring in 23 and East 12. Blevins' high pointer was Huggs with 18 and Bonds 13.

In the second contest Perry's team edged Spring Hill 88 to 85. Perry's Ramsey led the winners with 24 and Walker 22. Spring Hill's Sooter tossed in 19 and C. Kidd 17.

Next Wednesday Perry's and Blevins tie up in the first game and Spring Hill and Monte's team in the second.

Porkers' McClard Is Best Kicker

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame's Tom Gatewood held on to his lead as the nation's top major college pass-catcher this week with 49 receptions for an average of 8.2 per game.

Dave Smith of Mississippi State has caught 59, Don Fair of Toledo 57 and Wes Chesson of Duke 54, but all have played two more games than Gatewood, and the leaders are based on average catches per game.

Mary Bateman of Utah is the punting leader with a 46-yard average per kick while Bill McClard of Arkansas is the top point scorer by kicking with an average of 7.6 points per contest on 38 extra points and five field goals for 53 points.

Bob Wickers of Utah State is the leading punt returner with an average of 18.6 yards per kick and Dick Harris of South Carolina leads in kickoff returns with a 31.4 average. Mike Sensibaugh of Ohio State has six interceptions in five games for a 1.2 average and the lead in that category.

Speculation on Which Is Best Team

By JOE MOOSHL

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Which is the better team — Notre Dame or Ohio State or possibly Michigan?

The Ohio State-Michigan argument will be resolved Nov. 21 when the two teams meet. But what about second-ranked Notre Dame and third-ranked Ohio State?

They don't play, but a couple of coaches who took their lumps from both teams shed some light on the matter.

Northwestern's Alex Agase, who opened the season by losing to Notre Dame 35-14 and last week lost to Ohio State 24-10, flatly says, "On the days we played them, Notre Dame was the better team and Joe Theismann was a more effective quarterback than Rex Kern."

Agase's thinking apparently has been reflected in The Associated Press poll which has seen Ohio State slip from No. 1 to No. 3 behind Texas and Notre Dame in two weeks despite the fact the Buckeyes have remained undefeated.

Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State apparently also leans towards Notre Dame although his Spartans lost to both powers by identical 29-0 scores.

"Ohio State is more explosive on offense," Daugherty told the Chicago football writers via a telephone hookup Tuesday. "Notre Dame is stronger defensively, has more consistent quarterbacking in combining the running and passing games."

Daugherty's Spartans also lost to fifth-ranked Michigan, 34-20, and he said of the Wolverines: "Michigan defensively is equal to or better than both teams and its quarterback, Don Moorhead, is great on third down plays against Wisconsin and he did the same thing against us."

"A quarterback of this stature inspires a team," added Daugherty. "And he also gets you on the scoreboard."

Ara Parseghian, who makes no bones about the fact that Notre Dame's main objective is to win the national championship and to do so, a team has to finish No. 1, had an explanation for Ohio State's slide from first to third.

"Pollsters are influenced by the method of winning," said Ara. "Polls at best are guesswork which distinguish teams which are winning."

"There is small, if any, difference between teams ranked No. 1 or No. 2 or even No. 9 or No. 10 for that matter."

Parseghian agreed that the possibility is strong for a rematch of top-ranked Texas and Notre Dame in a postseason clash.

"So many things can happen," cautioned Parseghian. "It is conceivable the two teams could again meet in the Cotton Bowl. It is conceivable Notre Dame might go to another bowl and it is conceivable that Notre Dame will not go to any bowl."

Frazier-Foster Fight May Be Time Killer

by LARRY PALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Is the Joe Frazier-Bob Foster heavyweight title fight in Detroit Nov. 18 just something to kill time before a Frazier-Cassius Clay clash?

Such would seem the case the way champion Frazier was pummeled at Wednesday's news conference with questions about Clay, or as he prefers to be called, Muhammad Ali.

"I ain't fight'n that guy. I'm fight'n Bob," Frazier said politely. "That's the guy I have to worry about."

The news conference marked the opening of Frazier's final phase of training for the championship bout. The champ had been training for the past six weeks at a camp in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

Frazier began his Detroit training with 5 a.m. roadwork at Belle Isle park and also worked out at a gym. Foster, who is light heavyweight champion, is scheduled to arrive in Detroit Friday to begin his pre-fight preparations.

Frazier refused to get into a discussion of whether or not Clay's title should have been stripped away 43-months ago by the World Boxing Association because of his refusal to be drafted into the Armed Forces.

"Yes, I consider myself the champ," Frazier responded to a blunt question of whether he deserved the title in view of the way Ali lost it.

The 28-year-old Ali returned to the ring Oct. 26 at Atlanta and won a technical knockout over Jerry Quarry. The match was on closed circuit television around the country, including Detroit, and fans gave boisterous approval of Ali's first comeback performance.

A-State Ups Lead in Nat'l Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas State, after boosting its record to 7-0 with a 69-7 rout over Lamar Tech last Saturday, increased its first place lead over Montana this week in The Associated Press College Division Football Poll.

With five first-place votes, one more than last week, Arkansas State compiled 242 points in the balloting by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country while Montana had two top votes and 199 points.

Arkansas State led only 257-251 the previous week when Montana also had four first-place votes. Montana, 8-0, squeaked past Portland 31-25 last Saturday.

Montana also stood in danger of dropping as North Dakota State, 7-0-1, took third place, switching places with Tampa on the strength of a 35-0 victory over South Dakota State. North Dakota totaled 194 points; Tampa, with one top vote after a 14-10 victory over Louisiana Tech for a 7-0 mark, had 181.

Western Kentucky, No. 5, switched places with Tennessee State, No. 6, while Southwest Louisiana made the biggest jump from ninth to seventh after a 9-7 victory over Northeast Louisiana.

Delaware dropped one notch to eighth; Wofford, No. 9, moved up one place, and Southern Illinois dropped two places to 10th despite mauling Bradley 69-3.

Eastern Kentucky made the biggest jump in the Top Twenty, from 19th to 14, while Boise State dropped from 15th to a tie for 19th.

The only new team is Jacksonville, Ala., No. 18, while Springfield, Mass., which held that slot, fell from the rankings. The Top Twenty teams, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on 20-18-14-12-10 through 1 formula:

Bruins Star to Sign $1 Million Pact

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins' super-defenseman Bobby Orr will sign a five-year, million-dollar contract within a few weeks, his lawyer has revealed.

The contract has been in the works about six months ago, said Toronto lawyer Alen Eagleson.

"They (Bruins) wanted to get him under a long-term contract and we're perfectly willing to go along with that," Eagleson said.

Orr is now in the third year of a three-year contract. One reason Eagleson sought the long-term contract is to invest Orr's money in a number of enterprises.

Last season the superstar was winner of four major NHL awards, the first player ever to win that many in a single season.

What a donnybrook that would be! But, alas the schedules are all set for this year and next year and probably the year after. Notre Dame vs. Ohio State, dear readers, is one game I'd—ahem—pay to see! (Ed. Note: Careful, Major, that's your money you're talking about spending!)

Oh well, back to business as we head down the home stretch of the 1970 season. Both the Bucks and the Irish will see action this week, and each should win handily. For Ohio State (6-0) it will be another step on the road to the Rose Bowl as they bowl over the Wisconsin Badgers, 28-6.

The Irish (6-0) will entertain troublesome Pittsburgh at South Bend. The Hoople System sees a Notre Dame triumph, 32-6. Keep your eyes on Joe Theismann as he presses his claim for the Good Night for Utah and the Cougars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was another perfect night for the Utah Stars and the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, something the Cougars could do without.

The Stars rolled up their eighth victory this season without a loss by staving off the Indiana Pacers 102-99 at Indianapolis, Ind., in a battle of Western Division contenders.

But on the other end of the court, the Cougars were running their record to 0-9 by collapsing before the Kentucky Colonels 127-105 at Louisville, Ky.

In the only other game, the Memphis Pros held off the Floridians 112-106 at Memphis, Tenn.

In the National Basketball Association, Phoenix clobbered Cincinnati 133-115, Boston nipped Philadelphia 115-113, Milwaukee edged Cleveland 110-108, Seattle mauled Buffalo 126-101, Detroit moved past Atlanta 117-105, San Francisco whipped Baltimore 111-100 and New York downed San Diego 109-100.

The Stars, expected to battle the Pacers and Denver for the West crown, took an early lead, but Indiana pulled even at 83 with seven minutes left. However, Don Freeman, who scored 24 points, put the Stars ahead to stay with a basket moments later.

Freddie Lewis had 28 points for the Pacers, now 7-4 after winning the East and the ABA title last season and then switching divisions.

The hapless Cougars fell behind midway through the first period and never caught up, although Kentucky played most of the contest with high-scoring center Dan Issel on the bench in foul trouble. Louie Dampier led the Colonels with 20 points while Joe Caldwell had 22 for the Cougars.

Memphis jumped to a 61-41 lead, then 76-53, only to have Mack Calvin, the ABA's leading scorer, and Warren Davis pull the Floridians within 106-102. But Steve Jones hit two baskets and Jimmy Jones one to pull the Pros ahead 112-102. The Jones boys finished with 23 points each while Calvin had 32.

Memphis Blues Want to Join Southern Loop

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Bragan, president of the Texas Baseball League, said Wednesday he had received a request from the Memphis Blues to be released from their 1971 season contract in order to join the Southern League.

Bragan said a league meeting had been scheduled for Nov. 21 in Dallas. He said the Memphis situation would be acted upon at that time.

Two more quarterbacks have passed the 20,000-yard mark with their passing. John Hadl of San Diego now has 20,072 and yards and Kansas City's Lenny Dawson has 20,095.

There are now seven active National Football League quarterbacks over the 20,000-yard mark. Johnny Unitas heads the list.

Texas, the third member of the nation's premier collegiate trio along with Ohio State and Notre Dame, will roll to its 27th consecutive victory as they thrash Baylor's Bears, 36-6.

Election Day plus one. And it seems only fitting to recall the words of Sam Huff, the great all-pro linebacker now an assistant coach of the Washington Redskins, following an unsuccessful race for Congress earlier this year.

South had been having one of those evenings at duplicate when everything went right. He was so happy that he opened one no-trump out of turn. The director ruled properly that the bidding reverted to West and that North would be barred.

South noted North's irritation and decided to gamble on six no-trump. After all, everything had been going beautifully.

He won the heart lead in dummy and noted that he had 11 sure tricks and plenty of plays for 12. He decided to start by leading a club toward dummy's queen, but he forgot to play to his own hand first. Back came the director, who ruled that South had to lead a club from dummy.

A simple play of the deuce to his 10 would have forced the king and given him his 12th trick. South did play the deuce but proceeded to rise with his ace.

The gods of chance were still on his side, because he was now able to make all 13 tricks for a real top score. It wasn't too difficult for this genius. All he had to do was to run off the entire diamond suit while discarding three clubs from his hand.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — About half the television viewers of the nation were burning midnight oil Tuesday watching election returns. NBC thoughtfully booked some light entertainment early Wednesday evening to balance things off.

"The Men from Shiloh" had all sorts of help from guest star Greer Garson with a 90-minute comedy. Then followed that most relaxing of all television extravaganzas, an ice show.

Except for an occasional appearance on a variety show and those feature film rebroadcasts, Miss Garson has been a stranger to television. Her first dramatic role, in one of Doug McClure's "Shiloh" segments, was a woman lawyer using her feminine charms in a manner that must have brought jeers from any women's lib ladies watching.

The story began in the familiar Western fashion: Trampas—McClure's long-playing cowboy role—won a gold mine in a bar room poker game in a small town, then was arrested for the murder of the loser.

Attorney for the defense turned out to be an elegant lady from the East whose methods, while unorthodox, got Trampas acquitted in time for the final commercial and undoubtedly started some studio vice president dreaming about spinning spades and one heart, while West had to come down to five cards. West wanted to hold onto three hearts, the king and jack of spades and king of clubs, but that was a total of six and he had to throw one of them away. He threw a low heart, whereupon South cashed dummy's three hearts and West was squeezed again. This time, he unguarded the spade king, whereupon South made the last two tricks with the ace and queen of spades.

Do-It-Yourself Physical Can Indicate the Score

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

You can do a lot of the important parts of a medical checkup for heart and vascular disease yourself. Much important evidence that you may become a victim is fairly obvious.

Let's see how you score: Reach around to the back, just below the ribs and pick up a fold of skin. If it is over a half-inch-thick you have excess fat deposits. Try the same thing around the navel. The thicker the roll the sicker the patient. A truly lean body usually means less likelihood of developing fatty deposits in the arteries.

What has happened to your waistline? Can you wear the same clothes you wore in your early twenties? If not, you are on the road to the diseases of civilization—unless you are pregnant.

What is your body weight? If you have gained weight since your early twenties it is most likely not muscle—weight gain after that age is usually fat.

Check your resting heart rate. If it is less than 70 beats per minute you are more apt to have good heart action. Young men in good physical condition usually have heart rates of 60 beats per minute or less. If your resting heart rate is over 80 beats per minute you have a much greater chance of sudden death at an earlier age than those with rates below 70.

If you didn't flunk the first heart rate test, exercise by running in place about one minute at a rate of 60 steps a minute—counting when the left foot hits the floor. Lie down and count your heart rate again. If it is over 100 beats per minute you are not in optimal condition. You don't need to run to the doctor. Get rid of the cigarettes, coffee, colas and alcohol first. Start walking some each day.

Now, inventory your food habits. Are you on a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol? You should be.

Alcindor and Bucks Go Into High Gear

Lew Alcindor seems to have shifted into high gear as the Milwaukee Bucks begin to pick up speed in their chase after Detroit, but the Pistons don't seem to be slowing down.

The Pistons, the surprise club of the National Basketball Association, beat the Atlanta Hawks in Atlanta 117-105 Wednesday night for their 11th victory in 12 starts this season.

The Pistons, picked to finish far behind the Bucks in the Midwest Division, thus held onto their lead, although Alcindor poured in 53 points to lead the Bucks past the bedraggled Cleveland Cavaliers 110-108 in Cleveland.

The Cavaliers are now 0-12, three defeats shy of the NBA record for consecutive losses at the start of a season and six short of the record for any time.

In other games, Seattle added to the woes of Buffalo, another expansion team, beating the host Braves 126-101; Boston topped Philadelphia 115-113; visiting Phoenix outshot Cincinnati 133-115 and on the West Coast, New York trimmed San Diego 109-100 and San Francisco turned back Baltimore 111-100.

In the American Basketball Association, Utah stopped Indiana 102-99, Kentucky crushed Carolina 127-105, and Memphis held off the Floridians 112-106.

The hero for Detroit this time was reserve guard Howard Komives, who hit three baskets in a row at the start of the fourth period to turn an 83-81 lead into an eight-point spread, leaving the Hawks behind to stay.

Dave Bing led Detroit with 25 points, and Lou Hudson had 21 for Atlanta, the Central Division favorite now saddled with a 2-6 record.

Cleveland took a 62-51 lead at halftime despite Alcindor's 35 points. However, the Bucks, now 6-1, pulled ahead 101-96 with four minutes left. The Cavaliers got within 106-104 and then 110-108, but John Johnson missed a final shot and Alcindor grabbed the rebound with 11 seconds to go.

Seattle shot into a 23-5 lead and Buffalo never got closer than 13 again as the Braves lost their seventh straight for a 1-8 mark. Tom Merschery had 22 points for the SuperSonics and Don May 23 for Buffalo.

John Havlicek, who totaled 37 points, and rookie Dave Cowens scored seven straight points in the final minute, 34 seconds to lift Boston from a one point deficit to its third straight victory.

Pro Statistic Leaders Keep Up Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, Floyd Little, Chuck Hinton and Jan Stenerud retained their leads in the four top statistical categories this week in the American Conference of the National Football League.

Lamonica of Oakland again topped the quarterbacks after hitting 13 of 28 passes for 125 yards and two touchdowns in a 17-17 deadlock against Kansas City. He was followed again by Bill Nelsen of Cleveland and rookie Dennis Shaw of Buffalo.

Little of Denver carried 15 times for 65 yards in a 19-3 loss to Washington, enough to keep him in the rushing lead with 558 yards on 123 carries, a 4.5 average. Hewitt Dixon of Oakland was second and O.J. Simpson of Buffalo jumped from sixth to third after a 123-yard day.

Hinton of Baltimore caught only one pass last week and had to share his pass receiving lead with rookie Ray Chester of Oakland with 30 catches after Chester hauled in six.

Stenerud of Kansas City, kicking a field goal and two extra points, raised his leading scoring total to 60 points.

Paul Martha of Denver, W.K. Hicks of the New York Jets, Jerry Logan of Baltimore and Johnny Robinson of Kansas City remained tied for the interception lead with four each, while Ed Podolak of Kansas City kept his punt return lead with a 15.6 yard average per return.

Speedy Duncan of Baltimore took the kickoff return lead from Mel Blount of Pittsburgh with a 39.9 yard average on the strength of his 99-yarder last Sunday. Gerald Wilson of Kansas City held on to his punting lead with a 46.6 yard average per kick.

Porkers Work Out in Very Cold Weather

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked out for 90 minutes here Wednesday in near-freezing temperatures.

Coach Frank Broyles said he was pleased with the workout.

"We had a better practice and we needed it," said Broyles. "We worked hard on our running game. We had to move around to keep warm."

Broyles said safety Steve Walters and alternate fullback Scott Binnion would be able to play against Rice Saturday. Walters has been hobbled with an ankle injury while Binnion injured his left knee last week against Texas A&M.

Binnion was held out all contact work Wednesday.

Brown, Lane Continue Rushing Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Brown of Washington and MacArthur Lane of St. Louis continued their battle for the rushing lead in the National Football Conference, but this week's statistics show they had better not look back because Donny Anderson is gaining.

Anderson, who had trouble breaking into the Green Bay lineup after signing for some $650,000 four years ago, moved from sixth place to third after a 105-yard day against San Francisco.

Brown managed only 53 yards against Denver, enough to retain his lead over Lane, 596 to 591, after Lane got only 60 yards against Houston. Anderson now has 485.

Brown has averaged 4.8 yards a carry, Lane 5.4 and Anderson 4.6.

John Brodie of San Francisco held his passing lead, but Bart Starr of Green Bay dropped from second to fourth while Sonny Jurgensen of Washington rose to second and Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants jumped from fifth to third.

Charlie Taylor of Washington took the pass receiving lead from Dick Gordon of Chicago by snaring three for a total of 31 while Gordon managed only one catch for 30.

Fred Cox of Minnesota added three field goals and three extra points to his scoring lead and now has 70 points.

Bobby Joe Green of Chicago lost his punting lead to Mike Bragg of Washington, who is averaging 43.5 yards per kick.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Crater Lake in Oregon, located in a former volcano, is 1,932 feet deep—the deepest lake in North America and the fifth deepest in the world. The World Almanac says. The lake's sapphire-blue water is believed to be caused by the scattering of sunlight in its clear depths, thus reflecting the blue rays and absorbing the other colors.

Manhandles Kid Brother, North Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mickey Redmond didn't like the way his kid brother was roughing him up—so he manhandled little Dickie and the rest of Minnesota's North Stars. The fiery defenseman for the Montreal Canadiens assisted on two tallies, tangled with his frere, then stormed out of the sin bin after the ensuing penalty and slapped in a blue line shot to lift the Canadiens to a 4-3 National Hockey League triumph Wednesday night.

In other NHL action, Pittsburgh overwhelmed Vancouver 8-3, Chicago rallied to defeat Detroit 4-2, California beat New York 3-1 and Los Angeles edged Toronto 3-2.

Minnesota cut the margin to 3-1 on the first of two scores by Danny Grant in the third period. Then, with about five minutes gone in the session the Redmonds checked each other hard into the boards and came out swinging.

Two minutes after their penalties expired Mickey whacked home the clinching goal. J. P. Parise was Minnesota's other scorer.

The expansion Canucks stayed close to Pittsburgh through two periods, but the Penguins, led by two-goal performances by Glen Sather and Ken Schinkel, wrapped it up with a four-goal outburst in the final period.

Duane Rupp notched four assists for Pittsburgh while Vancouver got goals from Dale Talon, Pat Quinn and Ray Cullen.

Chicago, opening a three-point lead over idle Philadelphia atop the West Division, watched Detroit build up a 2-0 lead on goals by Jim Shires and Gordie Howe. Then the Black Hawks raced back, deadlocking it on scores by Brian Campbell and Doug Jarrett in a two-minute stretch of the middle session, then beating the Red Wings on tallies by Gerry Pinder and Campbell in the third.

Ali-Bonavena Fight Almost Sure Thing

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There's big doings in boxing today.

Madison Square Garden is hosting a press conference, with all the fixings, at which formal announcement is expected to be made that Muhammad Ali and Oscar Bonavena will meet in a 15-round heavyweight bout at the Garden on Monday night, Dec. 7.

Harry Markson, director of boxing at the Garden, did not specify the principals or the date in announcing the press conference. The Associated Press learned that the occasion was to be the setting for the formal signing for the fight by Ali also known as Cassius Clay, and by the South American socker from Buenos Aires.

ROGER DOUGHTY One Raquel Welch For 10 Max Schells

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Maximilian Schell has this thing about autographs. He isn't all that thrilled about giving out his own, but he gets a big charge out of collecting other people's.

A lot of folks want Max's autograph because they remember his Oscar-winning performance in "Judgment at Nuremberg" or his work in "The Condemned of Altona" or "Five Finger Exercise" or "Simon Bolivar" or other movies. He isn't all that impressed with himself.

"If it makes somebody happy to have my autograph it makes me happy to give it," the Austrian-born actor says, "but I suspect that most of the people who ask me are secretly thinking, 'Oh, boy. If I can get 10 Schells I can trade them for one Raquel Welch.'"

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

Still, it's a lot easier to get Max's autograph than it is to get yours included in his collection. If you're serious about trying, it would help if you're very famous and or very dead. It's possible to stay alive and make it, but the odds are higher.

"I have some material from John Osborne, the British playwright," Max was saying the other day, "and he was still alive the last time I checked. But the kinds of things I really like to collect are personal papers of people like Verdi, Brahms and Mozart. I have all of them in my collection and I'm trying to get something from Beethoven. Some of his I.O.U.s are still around and they're worth more today than they were when he signed them."

Schell's interest in collecting letters and doodles and things has nothing to do with their value (although he admits that it will cost you about $3,000 to buy one of Beethoven's $50 I.O.U.s). Max is more interested in finding out what great men were like.

"I have a letter Brahms wrote to a friend," he explained, "and he says that he should be working on a quartet, but it's such a nice day that he doesn't feel like doing anything. It's so nice, he says, that he isn't going to waste any more time writing letters when he could be out in the sun. And that's the end of the letter."

"Then there's one Mozart wrote to a friend of his and it deals with the fact that Mozart and some of his pals were out drinking until three in the morning and he's having trouble thinking straight. "It gives you an insight into a man's music to know that he might have composed it with a hangover."

When Max isn't trying to corner the market on personal papers, he likes to collect paintings, play piano, take long walks in the Austrian woods and every now and then make a movie. But not too often.

"First Love," his latest project is about a boy (John Moulder Brown) who falls in love with a girl (Dominique Sanda) who falls in love with the boy's father (Schell). In addition to being in it, Schell wrote the script, produced and directed the picture and put three years of his life into it.

Schell thinks "First Love" could be the "Easy Rider" of 1970, although it has nothing in common with Peter Fonda's flick.

He shot it in Hungary,

Thursday, November 5, 1970 where he got all kinds of co-operation.

"I needed some shots of a forest burning down," he remembers, "and I'm not sure how they'd handle a thing like that in Hollywood, but the Hungarians just went out and burned down a forest. In fact, they burned it down three times.

"What we have going for us," figures Max, "is that rare combination of beautiful photography—nature can be very corny at times, which most directors don't seem to realize—exceptional talent—the rest of the cast, not mine—and one thing that few movies have—good old Hungarian know-how."

MAN OF IRON steps out in Bonn, Germany. He was a member of a Turkish group which marched past President Heilmann's residence as prelude to state visit from Turkey's President Sunay.

Results in Legislative Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The results of Tuesday's general election were a sharp turn for Republican expectations as Democrats conquered in 49 of the 51 legislative contests.

Neal Sox Johnson, the state party executive secretary, had said he would be greatly disappointed if Republicans gained fewer than 20 seats earlier in the campaign.

The meager GOP contingent in the General Assembly, however, was diminished further as Democrats defeated Republican incumbents in two House races.

Ousted were Danny L. Patrick of Delaney in District 2 and Marshall Chrisman of Ozark in District 8.

The other Republicans, Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith and Rep. Preston Bynum of Siloam Springs, won re-election in Districts 12 and 1, respectively.

The only other GOP legislator, state Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers, did not have to face re-election this year.

The makeup of the 1971 General Assembly will be 34 Democrats and one Republican in the Senate with 98 Democrats and two Republicans in the House.

Here are the results, by districts:

District 2, Washington County, Dr. Morris Henry, Democrat, defeated John G. Sugg, Republican, 13,401-7,583.

Foster Thinks He Can Whip Joe Frazier

By HUBERT MIZELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bob Foster has muscled up from a light heavyweight and says he'll "knock Joe Frazier's block off" to kill the highly-sought battle between the heavyweight king and Muhammad Ali.

"Jabs, that's what you need to beat Frazier," said the light heavy king, "and I've got a great left jab."

The 193-pound Foster is training at his adopted hometown of Tampa for a Nov. 18 title bout against Frazier at Detroit's Cobo Hall. Meanwhile, Miami Beach promoter Chris Dundee appeared to be losing out in his bid for a second Ali comebacker against Argentine heavyweight king Oscar Bonavena.

The Associated Press learned Wednesday night that the Ali-Bonavena scrap will be staged Monday, Dec. 7 in Madison Square Garden.

One reason for the New York site was, according to Garden sources, that Ali had not been licensed to fight in Florida. Dundee said he felt issuing a permit would be a mere formality since New York State had rekeyed Ali, also known as Cassius Clay, to box again.

Foster has been building his spidery body for a shot at the bigger loot of the heavyweight division. The Washington, D.C., native won his last bout against Houston's Mark Tesson at 174 pounds in June and has since added 19 pounds.

"I've got the power to knock out Frazier and I'll do it," boasted Foster in a telephone interview from his Tampa camp. "Even at 174, I knew I could land some jabs—a lot of jabs—on his face. Now they'll be felt more. I'll kyo him."

"Remember, I was the last guy to beat Cassius Clay," reminded Foster. "I beat him as an amateur in 1959 at Chicago."

If he, indeed, does box Frazier's ears, would Foster then want another shot at Ali a dozen years later?

"Oh, sure," said Foster. "That's where the big money is, fighting that guy. And I'd beat him, too. I ain't never thought he was no fighter—before he was suspended or now."

Foster is 31 and admitted he may be finished as a light heavyweight, despite owning the title. "The money's in the heavyweight division," he said. "You make a living, that's all, as a lightweight. The big bread is with the big boys."

Riley Praises 'Intelligence' of People

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Lt. Gov.-elect Dr. Bob Riley of Arkadelphia said Wednesday that the Democrats' victory in Tuesday's general election was a "great tribute to the intelligence of our people."

Riley, who defeated two other candidates in the race for lieutenant governor attributed his victory and Dale Bumpers' gubernatorial triumph to just plain hard work.

"It just might be said no two candidates ever worked any harder than we did," Riley said in a telephone interview from his home here. "Sure our schedules were self-imposed, but we saw more people than any two people ever saw in the history of Arkansas politics."

Riley defeated Republican Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock and American party nominee Hubert Blanton of Hughes.

Riley's victory margin was large but not as big as Bumpers' over Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

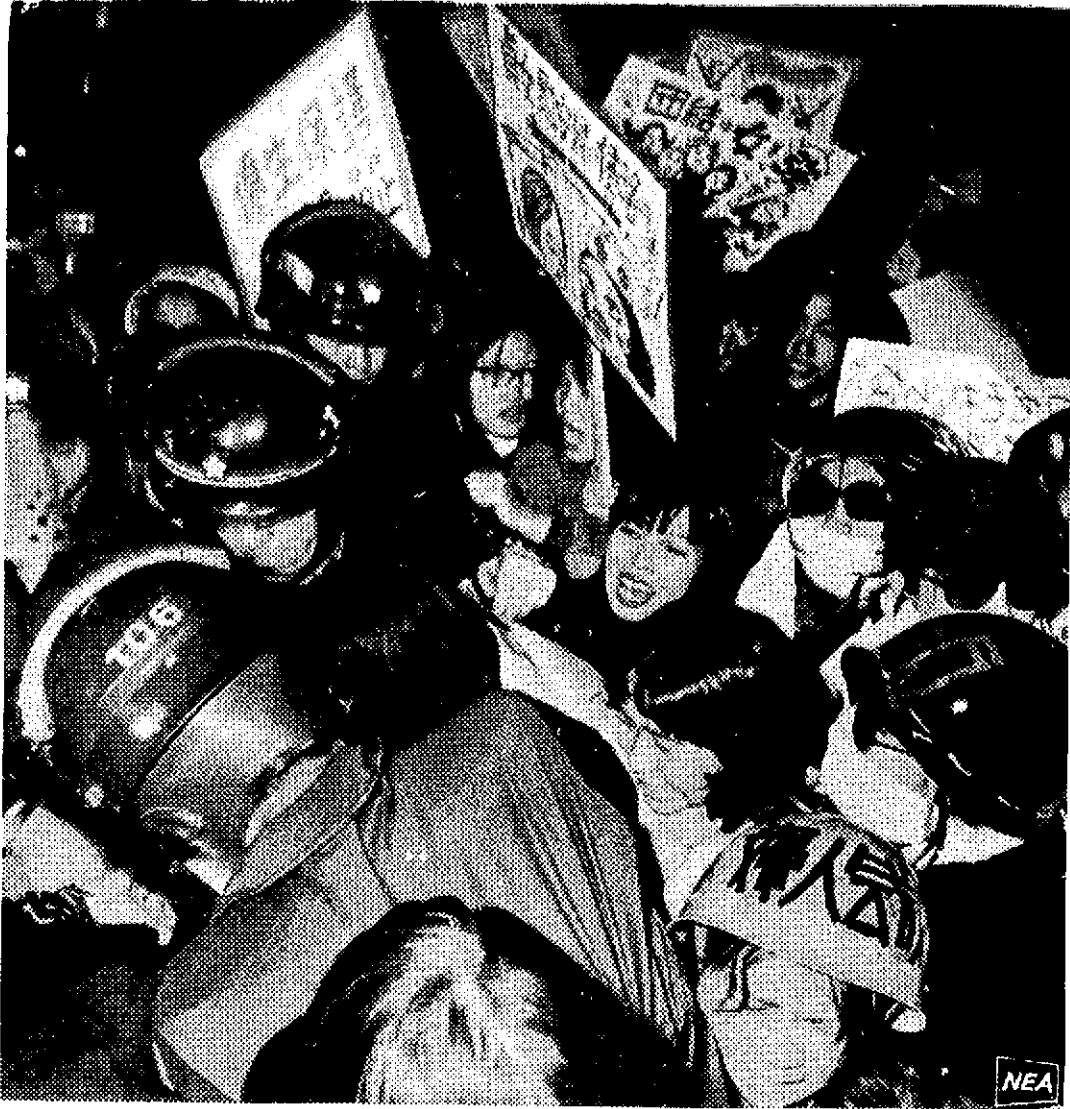

Cockrill said in a concession statement Wednesday afternoon that the people of Arkansas have been able to choose for the past six years.

"Without a doubt this has provided a good, healthy political climate in Arkansas. This makes all past and future efforts worthwhile."

Even though the Republicans suffered resounding defeats in Tuesday's elections, Cockrill said that the "Republican party is here to stay."

"It (GOP) will not die with the defeat of the governor, myself or any other candidate, because the Republican party has brought competition to government, and a choice to the people," Cockrill said.

Riley said there was nothing about the campaign he would change if given the chance. He

Split Decision by American Symbolized

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have defied off-year election tradition, but Democrats gained statehouse political muscle—and the near deadlock of a bitter Senate battle in Indiana symbolized today the split decision returned by America's voters.

Democrats called the verdict a defeat for the administration. President Nixon declared his hand has been "enormously strengthened" on defense and foreign policy by changes in the Senate.

Republicans managed a mid-term gain in the Senate, picking up two seats, with the Indiana outcome still in doubt. With Democrats and Republicans each likely to have the support of one-third party or independent election victor, the Senate lineup stood at 54 Democrats, 45 Republicans.

It was the fifth time in this century the party of a President has won Senate seats in an off-year election.

Democrats posted an eight-seat House gain—smaller than history's pattern—with one race still in doubt. The lineup there: 254 Democrats, 180 Republicans. Most of the gains were in the Midwest.

It was the ninth straight election in which Democrats had captured control of both Senate and House.

Democrats took over 13 Republican governorships, among them three of the 10 most populous states in the nation—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida.

They lost two, Tennessee and Connecticut, to Republicans.

Three states remained in doubt: Maine and Rhode Island, where Democratic incumbents held narrow leads, and Michigan, where the Republican governor was ahead.

In the Indiana Senate race, a focus of Republican law-and-order campaigning, Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke held a slender and inconclusive lead over Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, a conservative who once was national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A recount was likely. Absentee ballots were put under guard; voting machines were locked; ballot boxes impounded. Hartke's unofficial margin was 3,690 votes but the Indiana outcome may be in doubt for weeks.

In Tennessee, Rep. William E. Brock III ousted Democratic Sen. Albert Gore, a key administration target; in Connecticut, Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. won a three-way contest for the GOP; in Maryland, Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr. upset Democratic Sen. Joseph D. Tydings; in said that with stamina and determination "you can win."

Riley said he thought the defeat of the proposed state constitution was due to a "lack of understanding."

"There just wasn't time or opportunity to permit people to understand what various ramifications of the whole thing," Riley said.

Ohio, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. took over a Democratic Senate seat. In Illinois, Adlai E. Stevenson III defeated Republican Sen. Ralph T. Smith; in California, Rep. John V. Tunney trounced GOP Sen. George Murphy.

Democrats successfully defended 19 Senate seats, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a Democrat, was re-elected as an independent in Virginia.

Republicans held seven GOP seats. James L. Buckley, a registered Republican, was elected as a Conservative in New York.

Democrats scored significant gains in the less publicized arena of the state legislatures, which will design new congressional districts to match the population figures of the 1970 census.

Federal court rulings restrict the gerrymander, the old-fashioned way of shaping a congressional district to guarantee victory for one party. But—that doesn't mean a party in command of a state government cannot draw district boundaries that will favor its congressional candidates.

In California, due to gain five House seats, Democrats overturned Republican majorities in both houses of the legislature.

Democrats made legislative gains in Pennsylvania, gained splits in Wisconsin, Utah and, apparently, Illinois.

Republican strategists had hoped redistricting, and Nixon's re-election coattails, would give them a good chance at capturing House control in 1972.

That prospect has dwindled. Democratic governors will be in charge in at least 27 states.

In Maine, Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis was on a ticket led by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, a landslide victor who had hoped to prove his coattail strength as part of the buildup to a 1972 presidential campaign. Curtis was narrowly leading James S. Erwin, the Republican attorney general. Erwin requested a recount.

Muskie won re-election with 62 per cent of the Maine vote. He said Wednesday he has not decided whether to seek the Democratic presidential nomination—although all the evidence is that he is already doing so.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said Muskie is the front-runner for White House nomination, but maintained the Democratic field is wide open.

Militant Wins Court Round

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for black militant Angela Davis have won a federal court order directing officials of the Women's House of Detention to end her solitary confinement and let her mingle with other inmates.

Miss Davis, 26, awaiting a hearing on extradition to California to face murder and kidnap charges, went on a hunger strike Oct. 24 when removed from a cell she shared with three other women and lodged in a room in the prison medical clinic.

Jessie Behagen, superintendent of the detention center, said her presence had disrupted normal routine and might result in bodily harm to her or other inmates.

Future of Agnew Remains a Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remains a question mark following what President Nixon has described as a Republican victory in Senate and House contests.

Some members of Nixon's inner circle remain divided on whether Agnew should be nominated for second place on the ticket in an expected Nixon bid for re-election in 1972. Some of Agnew's critics within the administration say they will be watching how the vice president conducts himself in the months immediately ahead.

The subject of Agnew's future was much-discussed in the closing days of the 1970 campaign, following publication of a report he might be supplanted two years hence by Rep. George Bush of Texas, provided Bush won his Senate race against Democrat Lloyd Bentsen.

Bush's loss to Bentsen has not ended speculation about Agnew's prospects. While it is true talk of "dumping" the vice president has been common to almost all recent administrations, at least some Nixon associates continue to have that question very much in mind.

Following Tuesday's balloting, Nixon limited his victory claim to Senate and House races "in which I have been campaigning." Talking briefly to newsmen Wednesday at the California White House before flying back to Washington, the chief executive made no mention of Agnew's more strenuous 8-and controversial—campaigning.

Herbert Klein, the administration's communications director, spoke to reporters Tuesday night about "a lot of criticism in terms of the vice president's role in the campaign."

However, Klein added that Nixon looks upon Agnew as the GOP campaigner who was out front where the heat was hottest and felt the vice president had been very effective on the stump.

In his post-election statement, Nixon claimed Republicans had gained "a working majority in both the House and the Senate for national defense and also for foreign policy."

He referred to the ideological attachments of members of the Congress that will meet in January rather than party labels. Democrats, of course, will continue to control both houses.

He predicted the election results, "as far as the Senate is concerned, will not go unnoticed abroad."

The chief executive noted both Democrats and Republicans are making victory claims "as is usually the case in an off-year election." He even bolstered the legitimacy of such a claim by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, saying O'Brien "with justification points to the fact that in state races his party picked up several governorships."

But then he went on to draw a distinction between these contests and "national races" in which he said he had campaigned.

Suez Canal Ceasefire to Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Suez Canal ceasefire will continue after its expiration time tonight, but there is no prospect for a resumption of peace talks despite the U.N. general Assembly resolution urging Israel and the Arabs to start negotiating again.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram said President Anwar Sadat had ordered Egyptian forces to continue the truce for "a further short period," but not for another 90 days unless progress is achieved in the current peace efforts at the United Nations.

Sadat coupled this with an order for a full alert on the canal front "regardless of any political developments."

Al-Ahram said Egypt will continue to observe the ceasefire "until the completion of current discussions at the United Nations and accompanying international efforts." This was seen as a reference to Egypt's campaign in the U.N. General Assembly to force the Israelis to return to the indirect negotiations for which U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring is the go-between.

Israel had said earlier that it would continue to observe the ceasefire until fired on, even if there was no formal agreement to extend it. But the Israelis remained firm in their refusal to return to the negotiations until Egypt pulls back anti-aircraft missiles which Israel charges were shifted forward in the Suez area after the standstill agreement went into effect Aug. 7.

Egypt has been just as adamant in its insistence that its redeployment of missiles along the canal has not violated the ceasefire and that none of the rockets would be pulled back.

The Jordanian government also was considered certain to extend the ceasefire though there has been no formal announcement from Amman. Since the 1967 war, the Jordanian army has left offensive action against Israel to the Egyptians and the Palestinian guerrillas, and now it is so occupied trying to keep the guerrillas from overthrowing King Hussein that it probably could not take effective action against Israel if it wanted to.

The first 90-day ceasefire period ends at midnight in Israel and Egypt—5 p.m. EST.

Yugoslavia and 20 Asian and African supporters of Egypt pushed a resolution through the General Assembly Wednesday calling for a 90-day extension and immediate resumption of the Jarring talks. The resolution was approved 57 to 16 with 39 abstentions. The United States and Israel opposed it.

Israel had two objections to the resolution: It included a specific call for her to withdraw from the territories seized in the 1967 war and it calls for resumption of negotiations while ignoring the ceasefire violations charged by Israel.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Assembly that this emphasis on Israeli withdrawal threw off balance the Security Council resolution of November 1967, which laid down the framework for a Middle East peace agreement.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the assembly that the resolution was "clearly ... put forward in behalf of one side to the conflict and represents the views of that side." He said its adoption constituted a "step backward, not a step forward."

Fair Skies for Arkansas Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Weather Service is predicting fair skies and an abundance of sunshine for the next few days, on the heels of winter-like weather which brought freezing conditions to some portions of the state.

The temperatures will rise during the next few days, however, the nights will remain cold.

Precipitation in the form of light rain and some occasional snow was limited to northern Arkansas Wednesday.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 53 at Little Rock to 41 at Harrison and Fort Smith.

MONTREAL (AP) — Fire

raced through a home for the elderly today in the Montreal suburb of Pointe-aux-Trembles and 17 persons perished. Police said all died of asphyxiation.

Seventeen other residents of the Foyer Ste. Bernadette home managed to escape the flames, which broke out at 4 a.m., after a furnace exploded in the basement of the three-floor brick and stone building. The survivors were taken to a hospital where their condition was listed as satisfactory.

Pierre Gariepy, Pointe-aux-Trembles chief of police, said a great deal of smoke was pouring from the building when firemen arrived. He said the victims probably died in their sleep.

The owner of the home, Lucien Paradis, said it had passed a government safety inspection two weeks ago.

Cemeteries with fanciful

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Tuesday's elections providing a slightly more conservative tinge to Senate Republican ranks, Sen. Hugh Scott may face a new challenge to his party leadership.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, defeated by Scott for the GOP leader's post by a 24-19 vote after the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois last year, said in an interview he may make another run for the job.

"I wouldn't rule out the possibility," Baker said, adding he may make a decision after a couple more days of analyzing election returns.

There will be at least five new Republicans in the Senate and possibly a sixth, depending on the outcome of the still undecided Indiana race between conservative Rep. Richard Roudebush and liberal Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke.

In addition, Conservative party candidate James L. Buckley unseated liberal Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell in New York and likely would back Baker against Scott. Goodell voted for Scott.

Baker, who noted a switch of only three votes would have given him the edge over Scott in last year's party caucus, said he might have a chance to win the votes of most of the new Republican senators.

U.S. Detects Big Enemy Buildup

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. reconnaissance jets have detected an extensive buildup of war materials in the southern provinces of North Vietnam awaiting shipment to Cambodia and South Vietnam, Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans said today.

Concluding a three-day inspection visit to Vietnam, Seamans said American bombers have stepped up raids along 200 miles of the Ho Chi Minh trail through southeastern Laos. However, he said that to the best of his knowledge U.S. planes were not attacking the staging areas in North Vietnam.

The United States halted all offensive bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1, 1968, but has continued reconnaissance flights over the North.

"This is a very, very crucial time for air war," Seamans said. "As a result of the Cambodian invasion, a large number of supplies were wiped out."

More Trouble Hits Another Jumbo Jet

By TOM KELLY

NEW YORK (AP) — A Paris-bound Pan American World Airways 747 jumbo jetliner carrying 163 persons including Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., was forced to return here Wednesday night after being buffeted by severe air turbulence that injured 14 passengers and six stewards.

Two persons were hospitalized. An airline spokesman said injuries to the 20 ranged from lacerations to broken bones. Some persons with minor injuries were treated at the Pan Am terminal.

Four ambulances met the plane, the largest commercial aircraft in service, on its return to John F. Kennedy Airport at 11:30 p.m. It had taken off at 9:14 p.m. and hit the turbulence over Nantucket, Mass.

Javits was not among the injured but said he was "a little shaken up because it took a long while to get out of the turbulence."

Javits, who was on his way to a NATO meeting at the Hague, said "A lot of people who were in their seats literally hit the roof of the plane."

A veteran Navy pilot who was a passenger, Lt. Cmdr. J. J. Meiling, told newsmen, "We must have fallen anywhere from 2,000 to 5,000 feet in a matter of no more than five minutes."

Javits praised crew members "for their cool-headed control in handling the situation."

Other passengers praised Meiling, of Provo, Utah, who was traveling with his wife Sheila and 6-month-old son, Neal.

They said Meiling made a "circus catch" to save his son from injury after the boy was hurled out of his bassinets.

Passengers said that Meiling then turned to help others including a stewardess who was bleeding from the back of the head.

The airline spokesman had no immediate comment on Meiling's report that the plane had fallen 2,000 to 5,000 feet. He said the plane was at about 30,000 feet when the incident occurred.

He said the crew would be questioned by Pan Am officials and by investigators for the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board.

Murder Trial Continues

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Franklin D. Bosnick Jr., 18, of Hughes was to continue today at Forrest City.

Bosnick was allegedly involved in a robbery at Hughes on the night of Dec. 3, 1968, in which Jesse Morgan, a city marshal was shot to death.

Bosnick had been convicted in an earlier trial but the Arkansas Supreme Court overturned the conviction on grounds that Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor did not properly instruct the jury on punishment for the crime. The jury was seated Wednesday.

Contributions make possible rehabilitation and child welfare programs of the American Legion Auxiliary, which benefits the disabled veterans, war widows and orphans.

With Election Behind Administration Turns to Economy Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With the elections behind it, the Republican administration must now focus even more intensively on the job of stabilizing the economy during the next year or else see law and order compromised as an issue in 1972.

Law and order, at least as a campaign tactic, was the byword of the administration for many months. The Democrats placed as much importance on the economic issues of inflation and unemployment.

It became obvious, however, that these issues were not so disparate as had seemed and that, in fact, they were in some respects different facets of the same situation. On election day they seemed headed for a merger.

Both issues were addressed to the same working class residents of urban communities. And as inflation and unemployment continued, they enveloped many of the most serious advocates of the new constitution.

European Reaction to Election

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Some European newspaper commentators today viewed the outcome of the U.S. election as a standoff for the Republicans and the Democrats. Others considered it a setback for President Nixon.

"The contest ended a draw, as the pollsters predicted," said Paris' conservative Le Figaro. "America, face to face with its terrible problems, didn't really make a move."

"If, as President Nixon maintains, there really is a silent majority backing up his position, ... it still has not seized the occasion to express itself clearly."

Rome's Il Popolo, the organ of the ruling Christian Democrats, also found the results inconclusive. It said the election "justifies neither the Republican claims of victory in defeating anti-administration senators, nor the Democrats' hopes that American voters have repudiated the 'politics of fear.'"

Sweden's conservative Svenska Dagbladet and liberal Dagens Nyheter, both called the outcome a defeat for the President.

Svenska Dagbladet said it was the worst campaign in U.S. history and that "the gigantic problems in the country were

Says Bumpers Defaulted on Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — De-

loss Walker of West Memphis, Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers' campaign manager, Wednesday night denied charges by three leading Republicans that Bumpers was responsible for the rejection of the proposed new constitution.

The Republicans said that Bumpers, a Democrat, did not do enough to convince voters to approve the proposed charter.

The charge was made at a news conference called by Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt, GOP state chairman Odell Pollard of Searcy, and Marion B. Burton, director of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's unsuccessful Republican candidacy for a third term. "That was his first true test of leadership and he failed," Burton said.

Walker said that "from the beginning," a major portion of Bumpers' platform and the major portion of his speeches were "built around the adoption of the new constitution."

"I think the people of the state who heard him speak, know that he was for the constitution and that anybody might allege at this point would be contrary to that fact," Walker said.

At the news conference, held in Rockefeller's campaign headquarters here, reporters pressed Burton, Britt and Pollard to specify the manner in which Bumpers failed to support the constitutional proposal.

Burton, saying the Bumpers speeches were only "lip service," contended that blame for the document's failure to be adopted rested with the Democratic leader because he did not actively campaign for the proposal.

"He didn't get his people out to working for it," Burton said. "If Mr. Bumpers and his organization had done half what Gov. Rockefeller and his organization had done for the constitution, it would have been passed."

Reporters suggested that Bumpers had neither the money nor man power to push the proposed constitution as strongly as the Rockefeller-financed effort, but Burton said the personal efforts of Bumpers and other Democrats fell short of what could have been expected from true proponents of the document.

Some newsmen plainly were irritated that Rockefeller in what was considered a lapse from traditional conduct, had yet to face reporters in the wake of his defeat.

None of the three Republicans at the news conference gave assurances that the governor would come out of seclusion soon.

While professing an attitude of constructive assistance for the Bumpers administration, the GOP figures said often that the Republican party intended to capitalize on any mistakes made by the administration of the new governor, particularly if the performance of Bumpers fails to match his "image."

Asked how Bumpers could fall short of performance when Republicans have contended in the campaign that he promised nothing, Burton said, "He certainly campaigned on the theme of getting the state together and solving state problems. I take that to mean raising salaries of state employees and teachers."

Rabbit Turns Out to Be Goat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock police investigated a call Wednesday night that a "five-foot rabbit" was running around MacArthur Park and the suspect got their goat.

The rabbit turned out to be a black goat, which escaped after being taken into custody.

The goat was captured and taken to a nearby fire station, where it slipped through officers' fingers, attempted to butt firemen and scampered off into the night.

Officials said the animal was still at large this morning.
